Dear Mohan Das,

Though it seems a bit on higher scale such a content of home page,

Seems comparable to Japan price. Please discuss with Davis 100,000 Yen

Seems to be reasonable price.

Please let me know.

Mr. Rajesh,

We will be charging 10,000 yen per man day. So the total cost will be 160,000 Yen to develop the site. Once you are OK wit this, we can start making a couple of sample designs to choose from

OK. If that is the case better we will not use any CMS systems like Wordpress because it may be restricting us at a later time when eCom gets implemented. What I suggest now is to develop a responsive site using pure HTML for now and later enhance it using PHP and an appropriate framework. Using any ready made eCommerce frameworks will also be having some restrictions at a later time to suite our requirements at that point of time.

It will altogether take around 16 days of work including communication and iterations

Dear Mohandas,

This time we will not use the web content as e-commerce site, however, the content might

Have video, flash Â and also applicable to mobile compatible version.

In due courseÂ after few month e-commerce could also be started.

So based on that let me know its CMS or HTML.

Â

Dear Davis,

As I talked about please make and quote for the JIH healthcare pvt. Ltd. home page.

There is no e commerce landing page, just home page.

Â

The design should be like one page scroll down.

Â

I am sending the contents here, for estimation. Some pictures and refined contents will be sent later after design completion.

Â

We have already had the domain registration.

Â

Power point file is for more better understanding as info.

Â

Look forward
